Do you work with people who may have been discriminated against?

Are you unsure whether someone might be able to make a complaint about a human rights issue? Have you been asked to help with a discrimination or human rights issue? Do you want to talk through a case?

We are offering a new telephone-based advisory service for the advice sector, solicitors, other organisations that support individuals with their problems, trade unions, and ombudsman schemes.

EHRC Adviser Support offers frontline agencies access to high quality advice on equality and human rights issues, using our knowledge and expertise.

More details, including the contact number, are available at:

along with short surveys that will help us gather information about what you want from the helpline.

You can get in touch during core office hours, Monday to Friday.

Please note that EHRC Adviser Support is a second tier service for the advice sector. Individual members of the public should contact the Equality Advisory and Support Service (EASS). EASS is completely independent of the Equality and Human Rights Commission.
